Connectivity & Features

It's been 25 years since DB Schenker opened a branch office in Verona – and now the organization has changed its look and is moving into a new facility in the Interporto. More than 20 destinations are connected by the new terminal, whereby most of the consignments are sent to Germany, France, and Austria.
One key feature of the warehouse involves a setup that allows for free movement without encountering obstacles, thereby enabling and optimizing cross-docking activities for import and export operations.
