Consignment size

Consignments can be of any size from groupage goods to full loads. Larger than full load shipments will be handled by our special transport department.

Transport documents

Each shipment requires transport documents and address labels. Authorities may also require other transportation documents depending on the type of product and transportation location.

Pick-up

The time between order and pick-up varies depending on the location of the pick-up point, the type of goods and the availability of suitable transport equipment. The pick-up location must be manned at the agreed pick-up time. The sender must pack and load the shipment.

Delivery

Shipment will only be handed over to the recipient indicated in the order, and the recipient must unload shipment using their own equipment. If the shipment is delivered by a vehicle combination, the vehicle must have unrestricted access to the recipient's premises. If the recipient of the shipment is not available or delivery is not possible at the agreed time, the shipment will be transported to the nearest terminal and an additional surcharge will apply for the new attempt.
